FOR

GIRLS AND BOYS.

If I were a little bird,
   To rise upon the wing,
In the sky would I be heard,
   Where larks in summer sing.

Dear little warbler, soon I’d be
   On every spray beside of thee.
Alas! I cannot mount so high,
   And so, dear little bird, good-bye!
A RIDDLE.

In gold and silver
I shine most bright;
Guess this riddle,
And guess it right.
When I spread my feathers
To catch the gale,
An hundred eyes
You may count in my tail.
THE GOOD MOOLY COW.

Come! supper is ready,
Come! boys and girls, now,
For here is fresh milk
From the good mooly cow.

Have done with your fife,
And your row-de-dow-dow-dow,
And taste this sweet milk
From the good mooly cow.
Whoever is fretting
    Must clear up his brow,
Or he'll have no milk
    From the good mooey cow.

And here is Miss Pussy;
    She means by meow,
Give me too some milk
    From the good mooey cow!

When children are hungry,
    Oh, who can tell how
They love the fresh milk
    From the good mooey cow.

So when you meet mooey,
    Please say, with a bow,
"Thank you for your milk,
    Mrs. Good Mooey Cow."
ALFRED POOLE.

When Alfred Pool first went to school,
He was but scarcely seven:
Yet knew as well
To read and spell
As most boys of eleven.

Took his seat,
Wrote quite neat,
Nor ever idly acted;
And then, beside,
He multiplied,
Divided and subtracted.

The master said,
And stroked his head,
"If thus you persevere,
My little friend,
You may depend
Upon a prize next year."

THE GOOD BOY.

The good boy learns
To read and spell,
And tries to get
His lessons well.
THE ROSE.

Pretty flower, tell me why
All your leaves do open wide,
Every morning, when on high
The noble sun begins to ride.

This is why, my lady fair,
If you would the reason know,
For betimes the pleasant air
Very cheerfully doth blow.
And the birds on every tree
Sing a merry, merry tune,
And the busy honey-bee
Comes to suck my sugar soon.

This all the reason why
I my little leaves undo:
Lady, lady, wake and try
If I have not told you true.

---

SPRING.

The pleasant Spring has come again,
The pretty birds are here;
The grass grows in the gentle rain,
And buds and flowers appear.

I love to see the sky so clear,
And all things look so gay;
The fairest month in all the year
Is sweet and sunny May.
ROBIN REDBREAST.

Little robin redbreast
Sat upon a tree;
Up went pussy-cat,
And down went he;
Down came pussy-cat,
And away robin ran:
Says little robin redbreast,
Catch me if you can.

Little robin redbreast
Jumped upon a wall,
Pussy-cat jumped after him,
And almost got a fall.
Little robin chirped and sang,
And what did pussy say?
Pussy-cat said mew,
And robin jumped away.
Here are two little boys. They have staid from school to go and catch the poor fish.

Poor little fish!
I know you wish
To live as much as I;
I will not hook
You from the brook,
Nor even wish to try.

And you, old frog
Behind the log,
I will not stop your song,
Your great green eyes
May watch the flies,
I will not do you wrong.

GOOD CHILDREN.

What a pretty sight to see
A little brother, every day
As he travels to the school,
Lead his sister in the way!
COUNTRY SONG.

Bright is the sun
That shines on high,
Light are the clouds
In the blue sky;

Soft the sweet wind,
And fair the sight
Of leaves and grass
In the pure light.

The young birds skip
From tree to tree,
Their song is one
Of joy and glee.

The bright clear stream
Smiles as it flows,
And laves the root
Of the sweet red rose.

'Tis God who made
This world so fair;
Thanks for his love
And all his care.
